
Is someone missing a Cat???

Posted by D_Corbu - 2009/10/12 21:28

This afternoon I noticed a Golden Tabby Cat with no ID on my porch. It wasn't afraid of me and it didn't look like it was skin and bones. She (I think) has been on my porch all evening and I suspect she will be there in the morning. If anyone is missing a cat or knows of anyone missing a cat reply and I'll get you my contact info.

David,
Did you take the cat to the Humane society they can check to see if it has a microchip. They do it free.

The cat was there in the morning, but when I went to check on her about 10am she was gone. Haven't seen her since. At least she got a dry porch and a good meal out of the ordeal. I'm hoping she is at home now since I haven't seen her again. Thanks for the Humane Society info. Might need to do that next time.
